Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtic.

TUESDAY, April 8, 1746.

LEGHORN, November 29.

LAST Week Capt. Townſhend came in here with ſeveral of his Majeſty's Ships, and Bomb Veſſels, under his Command, from Baſtia, to take in Proviſions and Stores, which they were in want of. We learn by them, the Town had greatly ſuffered by the Fire from the Men of War, and the Number of Shells and Bombs thrown into it, which had deſtroyed many Houſes, and ſet the Town on Fire in three or four Places; which had ſuch an Effect, that three or four Days ago we received Advice from thence, by one of the Chiefs of the Corſicans (who came on purpoſe to give Capt. Townſhend an Account of it), that the Garriſon, which was Genoeſe, had ſurrendered to them; which had put them in poſſeſſion of the Capital. Marquis Mari, who was the Governor, with a Lieutenant-Colonel, Major, and about 150 Soldiers for his Eſcorte, found means to make their Eſcape the Night before the Place ſurrendered, which was on the 21ſt Inſtant: The reſt of the Garriſon were made Priſoners of War. M. Mari is gone to Calvi, which it is ſaid will be inveſted, as ſoon as ever his Majeſty's Ships get upon the Coaſt again, which Capt. Townſhend is endeavouring to do with the utmoſt Diſpatch. His Majeſty's Ships have ſome of them ſuffered in their Rigging, without any other Damage, or the Loſs of one Man.

Florence, Dec. 7. By Advices from Rome we hear, that the Pope has given the Pretender 50,000 Crowns, to carry on the Expedition, in Favour of his Son, in Scotland; and that public Prayers have been made in ſome of their Churches, and their Sacrament expoſed, for his Succeſs.

Hague, Dec. 2. According to the laſt Advices from Peterſburg, the Empreſs being informed of the Rebellion in Scotland, and having naturally a very great Averſion to all Rebels and their Abettors, her Imperial Majeſty declared to the Britiſh Miniſter, that if any foreign Power declares in Favour of the Rebels, or furniſhes them with Arms, Ammunition, &c. ſhe will not fail, as ſoon as requeſted, to ſend to the King of Great-Britain the Body of auxiliary Troops ſtipulated by Treaties, and cauſe 12000 Men to embark directly, either at Revel or Riga.

Edinburgh, Dec. 9. We hear that a French Tranſport is ſtranded in the Mouth of the Tay; and that their large Privateer of 36 Guns, had been ſo ſharter'd by the Ludlow Caſtle, that ſhe lies a perfect Wreck in Montroſe River.

Laſt Friday Col. Price's Regiment of Foot marched hence for Sterling, and are this Morning followed by the Regiment late Ligonier's. We hear that Sir John Shaw, at the Head of the 500 Volunteers, is to join them; and that the St. Ninian's and Sterling Militia are likewiſe to contribute to defend the important Paſs of Sterling Bridge.

LONDON.

Extract of a Letter from Newcaſtle, Novem. 25.

"There was a Fellow taken up here laſt Night, who had brought Letters from the Duke of Perth, to ſeveral Papiſts in the County of Northumberland; whoſe Anſwer he was carrying back, with about 250 l. in Money, which he had collected among them for the Support of the Cauſe. Theſe Circumſtances render it ſufficiently evident in his Power to make great Diſcoveries, and it is ſaid, he has manifeſted a Diſpoſition to make all that he can; ſo that this Accident is looked upon as a Matter of great Importance here. ——— All the Country round about Carliſle, &c. is entirely ruined, the Rebels being ſuch a Gang of Thieves, that they ſteal from one another; nay, even from their chief Leader; for one of them ſtole the Pretender's Piſtols, but they being very remarkable, were got again. Some of them, when at Edinburgh, met a Gentleman on Horſeback, and demanding his Horſe, he told them he wiſhed as well to the Cauſe as they did; but was anſwered, that if he was a Well-wiſher to the Cauſe he would think his Horſe well beſtowed; and if he was not, the Deel a Horſe he deſerv'd; and ſo took him away. They met another Gentleman ſome Time after, and demanding his Money, he anſwered them, he was as well affected to the Chevalier as they were; but they replied, You be Jacobite, your Money be Whig; and ſo robb'd him."

Nov. 30. On Saturday the Rt. Hon. the Lord High Chancellor, the Maſter of the Rolls, the twelve Judges, the Attorney and Sollicitor General, the Serjeants at Law, with the Benchers and Barriſters of the ſeveral Societies of the Law, made a Proceſſion of near 200 Coaches, from Weſtminſter Hall, to wait on his Majeſty with their Addreſs and Aſſociation; to which his Majeſty returned a moſt gracious Anſwer, and was pleaſed privately to expreſs his Satisfaction in having ſuch a Compliment paid him, as none of his Predeceſſors had ever received. They all had the Honour of kiſſing his Majeſty's Hand; and his Majeſty was moreover pleaſed to confer the Honour of Knighthood on four of the Judges, two of his own Serjeants, and two of the Gentlemen within the Bar; who are now Sir Martin Wright, Sir James Reynolds, Sir Thomas Burnett, and Sir Thomas Deniſon, Judges; Sir Samuel Prime, and Sir Thomas Birch, Serjeants; Sir Thomas Bootle, and Sir Richard Loyd.

A French Eaſt-India Man outward bound, is loſt on the Iſland of Bourbon, and out of 140 Men nine only were ſaved.

The Milford Man of War, of 44 Guns, is founder'd on the Coaſt of Scotland.

The Hazard Sloop of War, 'tis ſaid has burnt two Ships at Montroſe, for refuſing to ſtand, purſuant to Inſtructions.

The

The True Love of Whitby, a Transport Ship, was drove on shore and lost near Holy Island, and all the Crew perish'd.

Letters from Weymouth mention, that on the 23d Instant two Gentlemen from France arrived at Alderney, and give an Account, that an English Man of War, of 60 or 70 Guns, had chased two French Privateers, with 10 Sail under Convoy from Brest; and a brisk Gale of Wind sprung up at S. W. which drove them all ashore near Audierne Bay, and that about 700 dead Bodies had been taken up: All the People on board are said to have perished.

His Majesty's Sloop the Trial is drove ashore and lost on the Row-sands, near Holy Island, but all the Crew are saved.

The Jane, Henshaw, from Virginia for Liverpool, is lost on the Coast of Scotland.

Extract of a Letter from Edinburgh, Dec. 7.

"This Day General Guest sent a Regiment of Foot to Stirling, and we are told that Marshal Wade has detach'd two or three Regiments to Scotland. We are in fear of the Rebels getting over to us. Lord John Drummond, who now has the supreme Command, permits the utmost Outrages. The last Body of them kept a little Decency in the midst of their arbitrary Doings, but this none, robbing and plundering every Body, particularly the Clergy. They burnt two of their Houses after pillaging them. If they get here, whole Families must fly. Lord John says, he has a Right to take from every Body for the Prince, as he calls him, what may be useful to his Army and Service, and to do every thing that may terrify rebellious Subjects.

All this Country, and West, exclaim for Powers, Arms, and some Officers, Commons and Gentry being anxious to exert themselves. It is the same in the North, where we design to go next Morning. In a List I saw by a Refuge from Angus, arrived last Night, the Number landed is 858, besides Officers, two Chests of Gold, and seven of Silver, with some fine Artillery, and Plenty of Arms. Two Ships, one at Dundee, the other at Portsoy, have landed Men since. On the other hand, it is confidently said, one of Eyng's Squadron has taken one Ship laden with Men, and burnt another who had landed them. One of our Foot Regiments have this Day marched for Stirling, and on Monday next another is to go; we hear that the Glasgow People have march'd there also.

The above Person from Angus asserts, there are from Dundee to Aberdeen above 1000 Highlanders, and Accounts from Perth make 1000 there and at Downe, &c. and both mention a rigorous Exaction of one Man from each 100l. Valuation.

They write from Constantinople, the 27th of September, that several Couriers arrived from Asia have brought the News of the total Defeat of the Ottoman Army, commanded by the Seraskier Giegen, by the Persians, in the Plains of Alousan; and that of 100,000 Men, and upwards, of which his Army consisted, there did not escape above 18,000 Men. The Shah Nadir sent a great Body of Horse to break down the Bridge which the Ottoman Army had on the River Aspasaci, which brought on their total Ruin; for, arriving on the Banks of that River, they not only found it impossible to repass it, by reason of their Bridge being destroyed, but which was much worse, they found that Body of Horse posted on the other side the River, with a Line of small Field pieces before them, and the whole Persian Army in their Rear; by whom they were driven into the River, and there either drowned, or shot by the Cavalry on the other Side. The Ottomans lost on the Field of Battle their Tents, Ammunition, Artillery, military Chest, and the Seraskier's Treasure; which, altogether, amounted to several Millions.

Dec. 26. Of the five great Branches of the French Trade, it is observed, that the first, that to India, has brought in scarce any Thing since the Beginning of the War, while our English East-India Company have been so fortunate as not to lose one Ship. That the second, to the Sugar Islands of America, must be almost ruined by Admiral Townshend's Success, after the numberless Losses it had sustained before. That the third, to the Newfoundland Islands, and River St. Lawrence, we may make ourselves intire Masters of by the Possession of Cape Breton. And that the fourth, to the Levant, must have greatly suffered by our Mediterranean Fleet. The African Trade, which is made the fifth, depends so much upon the American, as the great Mart for Slaves, that it will not be worth keeping, if we drive them out of the latter.

It is more than probable therefore, that the Trade of Great-Britain will revive and increase in proportion to what her Enemies hath been hurt, if a proper Care be but taken after the present Convulsions are over.

Extract of a Letter from Rotterdam, Dec. 17. O. S.

"We have this Day a Dutch Captain arrived from Dunkirk, who went to bring a Ship from thence. He left that Place last Wednesday, and says, that the Embarkation went on very fast; that they work'd Night and Day, and took up all the Vessels they could get; and, to the best of his Judgment, there were about 60 Transports there and at Nieuport, most of them small, besides many Fishing Boats. What Number they had at Ostend he knew not. He says they are loaded with all sorts of Ammunition, and a great Number of Tents; and that the Troops that are to be embarked for this Expedition are chiefly Scotch and Irish. A good many of them he talk'd with, who were very much dissatisfied, and told him positively, that if they set their Feet on English Ground, they would quit the French Service, and desert from them immediately; and this, they said, was the Resolution of the greatest Part of them."

Our Accounts from Carlisle take Notice of the many detestable and shocking Villainies of the Highlanders, during their Possession of that City; for not content with stripping several Families of all their valuable Effects, they scrupled not to make free with the Persons of several young Ladies: There is one Gentleman in particular writes Word, — 'That after being in 'a manner stripp'd of every Thing, he had the Misery to see 'his three Daughters treated in such a Manner, that he could 'not bear to relate it.' — What does not this wicked Crew deserve! How can these plundering shabby Banditti be sufficiently punished!

Dec. 28. On Saturday last Sir John Ligonier, Knight of the Bath, and Lieutenant-General of his Majesty's Forces, arrived in Town from the Army of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland; and we hear the Foot under his Command will be at London this Week.

Extract of a Letter from Weymouth, dated Dec. 20.

"Yesterday Morning came on Shore at Flat, about 3 Miles to the Eastward of Portland, the Johan Jan Ernest, of Stetea Bons, a Galliot Pink, from Bourdeaux to Amsterdam, laden with Wine, Sugar, Prunes, Coffee, and Rozin; and her Crew, excepting a Boy, are all saved: The Ship is all to pieces where she came on shore, and her Cargo is lost; but I just now hear, that there are about 100 Hogsheads of Wine taken up at Burton, about 2 Miles West from Abbotsbury."

Thursday several of the Highland Rebels, taken by the Duke of Cumberland's Army, were brought to Town under a strong Guard, and committed to the Savoy.

The Folkstone Man of War, Capt. Dennis, in Company with the Saphire, fell in with 17 French Vessels on the 21st in the Morning, of which there was one of 36 Guns, one of 18, and two of 20 Guns, and two Doggers, the rest Transports, off Calais, and all made for the Port of Dunkirk again except one of the Men of War, who run ashore on a very dangerous Sand.

We hear all the Forts and Castles in the Kingdom are order'd to be double garrisoned either by his Majesty's Forces, or the new raised Regiments, in Default of a sufficient Number of the former; and that a Magazine of Arms is to be established in each of said Forts and Castles, in order to obviate the Inconveniency and Danger of waiting for Arms from the Tower of London upon any sudden Emergency.

Extract of a Letter from Dover, December 25.

——" One of Capt. Owen's Prizes is unladen; her Cargo consists, amongst other Things, of about one Ton of Gunpowder, one Ton of Lead Bullets, one Brass Mortar of eight Inches Bore with Carriage; and about 200 Iron Shells: one Field Piece, a Four Pounder, with about 200 Iron Four-pound Shot, some Cheveaux-de Frize, 12 Horse Collars, and about 30 Casks of Ammunition, Bread, &c.

A Brigantine belonging to Cork, from Cape Breton, with Oil and Fish, a Snow from Jamaica, with Sugar and Rum; and a Ship from Maryland with Tobacco, are all taken by the Biscayan Privateer, of 24 Guns and 200 Men.

On the 23d six Waggons laden with Money, from on board the French East-India Ship, &c. taken at Cape Breton, lying at Plymouth, was brought to the Bank of England, under a strong Guard.

We hear it is determined, that no Treaty of Peace shall ever be set on foot with France, to whom we have shewn ourselves so much superior by Sea; unless it be previously agreed, that the Restoration of Cape-Breton shall not be so much as mentioned in the Associations.

This Morning arrived an Express from Deal, with Advice, that Admiral Verno., with a Squadron of Men of War under his Command, sail'd out of the Downs Yesterday in the Evening, to cruize off Dungeness: But 'tis thought the French are too well acquainted with that Gentleman's Vigilance, to trust their Transports and Troops to his Mercy; and it is probable they will not put out of Dunkirk, &c. 'til a more favourable Opportunity.

The Duke of Bedford Privateer of Bristol, and Leostoff Privateer of London, have taken, and sent into Cork, a French Ship of 150 Tons, bound from Canada to France, laden with Oyl, Furr, and Skins.

Whitehall, Dec. 28. The King has been pleased to constitute and appoint Lieut. General Henry Hawley to be Commander in Chief of his Majesty's Forces in that Part of the Kingdom of Great Britain, called Scotland.

From the Gentleman's Magazine for November, 1745.

Deal, Nov. 23. This Afternoon arrived here his Majesty's Ship Sheerness, Capt. Bulley, and brought in a French Privateer, called the Soliel, which he took the 22d off the Dogger Bank. She came from Dunkirk the 21st, and was bound to Montrose in Scotland; and has on board Mr. Radcliff (who stiles himself Earl of Derwentwater), with 20 Colonels, Captains, &c. Irish, Scotch, and French; besides 60 other Men.

From the Gazette.

Another Account of the Capture of the Soliel says, —— 'There 'were on board a Million of Livres; and that besides Mr. Rad-'cliff, among the Prisoners are the Duke of Richlieu, Count 'Clermont, Lord Nairn, Lord Drummond, 16 other Persons 'of Distinction, and the Pretender's youngest Son, who goes 'by the Name of Manley. ——'

A Letter from on board Admiral Vernon's Ship, where the Prisoners are, relates, 'That Mr. Radcliff pretends to be the Fa-'ther of the young Gentleman who is supposed to be the Pre-'tender's youngest Son; but that upon two Beds being shewn, 'he offered the best to his Son, who is very sullen and spiritless; 'and every Thing tends to confirm his being the young Pre-'tender, which some are ready to swear; but they did not 'think he was six Foot high, as this Person is.'

From another Letter, —— 'Our Suspicion is further confirm-'ed by the young Gentleman's Hand being covered to hide his 'two middle Fingers, which grow together; by throwing his 'laced Hat and Coat into the Sea, and putting on a Leather 'Cap and Jacket; by the Preference Mr. Radcliff gives him 'on all Occasions; and by the Affirmation of a Person who 'knew him at Rome.' (Thus far the Gazette.)

Died at Madrid, the 6th of November, James late Duke of Ormond, in the 94th Year of his Age.

PHILADELPHIA, March 27.

We learn from Carolina, that his Majesty's Ship Aldborough being on a Cruize with the Tartar, met with a violent Whirlwind, attended with several smart Flashes of Lightning, which in an Instant split her Mainsail, carried away her Bowsprit, Foremast, Maintopmast, and all the Rigging thereunto belonging. Some time after she saw a Sloop crowding after her, which proved to be a a Privateer of 12 Carriage Guns, and 14 Swivels (imagining, as is supposed, the Man of War to be a Merchantman in Distress) The Privateer soon came up, and engaged the Aldborough very briskly; but her Great Guns soon convinced him of his Error, and made him endeavour to get away, which was no difficult Matter, the Man of War being under Jury Masts. The Privateer received considerable Damage, is a black Sloop, with a yellow Streak round her Stern, and has a dirty looking Bottom.
